

The feed-in tariff rate was initially 1:1 and has fallen from 9 cents/kWh down to 8 cents/kWh and now 6.6 is being proposed.

How can you reconcile these price changes with the Government's commitment to increase renewable energy - and therefore encourage customers to install solar PV and other small scale renewable energy systems - and address the problems of climate change?